Enter the bombers (Lloyd Banks, Fat Joe, Word Up, etc.) who emerged with a modern version of the lyrics and beats they listened to at the corner with the “fuck the police” chants and “don’t believe the hype” messages. If you listened to this album in the mid-90s or even this decade, you’ve likely heard this same banger looped on thousands of mixtapes from the underground to the mixtapes that come out everyday on media to Facebook apps to Tumblr bloggers. Hijack Machine is the Rolling Stones meets Afrika Bambaataa (and then some) of rap music, paving the way for classic jams like “How You Like Me Now” and “I Put A Spell On You” and “A Rush Of Blood To The Head”. This album is the ultimate nostalgic rap & hip hop ride. Some of the best songs ever made, and you need a track like that to get you in the mood for a Friday night. I have some great news. The Hijack Machine vinyl reissue is being remastered & pressed back on vinyl (along with the rest of the label) this summer. I received an email from Julie who runs the label informing me that this summer we will be pressing a triple Vinyl reissue of the the project. We are really excited about this release; it has been in the works for some time, so it’s great to finally have everything in place for this project to be released on Vinyl again.Falls in schizophrenia treated with haloperidol.
